

Exhibitions 2018

Body of Work Nov 24 to December 15

Caroline Graley solo exhibition AND in the SParc gallery children's work from the After School Art Classes with Yvette Atkins, supported by the Mirboo North & District Foundation

Opening event Sat 24 November, 2018 2-4pm. Graley writes: "I have always had a passion for life drawing. Having been a dancer before working in the Visual Arts, the human figure has been central to my practice. Sculptural forms evolved from dance movements, painting colourations reflected emotional states and life drawing has been a consistent discipline; the focus of my work this year has been to return to the human form to redefine my purpose".

arc members exhibition Oct 20 - Nov 17

Current members of arc Yinnar showcase their recent works in Gallery arc AND Kate McGuire's mini retrospective in the SParc gallery includes botanical drawing, tapestry and enamelling.

The opening event for this exhibition on Saturday afternoon 20 October from 2pm., is part of the annual Moartz Open Studios Latrobe weekend. This year there are two venues (arc Yinnar and Powerworks Morwell) for Open Studios as an Art Fair over the two days of 20 and 21 October 2018, with extended open hours on that weekend from 10 - 4 both days.

Archive August 11 - Sept 8

Posters and prints from the arc collection.

Curated by Rodney Scherer, this archival collection of Gippsland prints from the mid 1970s features environmental protest posters. Copies of some works are also held in the collection of the National Gallery of Australia in Canberra.

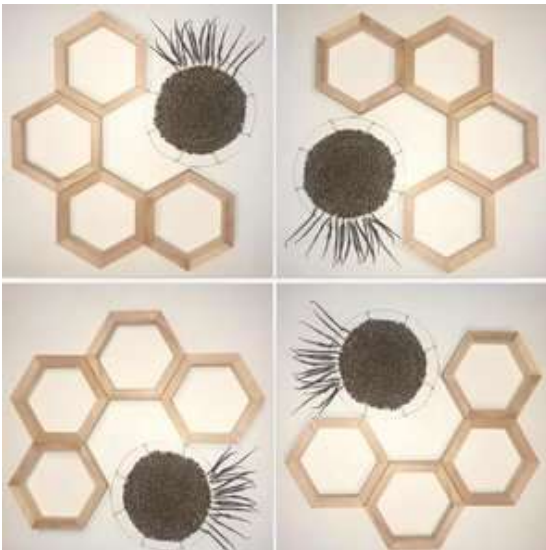

Memento August 11 - August 25

Works in porcelain by Jill Loader in the SParc gallery.

This body of artwork explores the association between objects, memories and the artist's attraction to the Morwell Centenary Rose Garden. "When I visited the rose garden in winter the colours had disappeared but the garden was full of organic, textured shapes. While I sat in this winter rose garden I contemplated the idea that everything changes and there is often a desire to collect and keep objects to help relive memories."

Husk and Hive July 7 - August 4

Yvette Atkins in the SParc gallery

A solo exhibition of sculptural and print works exploring the worlds of the Husk and the Hive. Opening event Saturday 7 July from 2pm.

LRG Emerging Artist Award July 7 - August 4

Mira Halpern-Wilson and Juliette Reeve

Two artists received this Award as the 2017 final year students from the Bachelor of Visual Arts, Federation University Gippsland. This is a collaborative project between Latrobe Regional Gallery, Gippsland Centre for Art & Design, Fed Uni and arc Yinnar. The artists show their current works in ceramics and mixed media. Opening event on Saturday 7 July from 2pm.

Formation June 9 - June 30

An exhibition by Christopher Miller that will focus on growth, colour and texture.

These works have been driven by how the physical nature of an object can shift based on our expectation and visual appearance of said objects. A shift in normality changes both the viewers' expectation and perception of an object. The viewer is forced to question if they can look beyond the perceived surface qualities to appreciate the actual object in its role and value. Opening event on Saturday 9 June from 2pm.

Botanica May 12 - May 26

Botanica - Open Entry Group Exhibition

Where the Botanical and the Creative Arts meet! Paintings, drawings, prints, photography and sculpture including Garden Art and living plants. Please note the Opening Event is on Saturday 19 May 2-4pm.

Botanica Plants in the SParc gallery. All proceeds from sale of plants go to arc.

We will also launch the Autumn Garden Print Project in the arc walkway, created during a Creative Gippsland Residency in Latrobe City. View the Nature Prints created by Jenny Peterson and 24 community workshop participants, during this May residency at arc Yinnar. This display will continue until Friday 8 June.
